- By using a variety of test and locating equipment to isolate, identify, and analyze equipment trouble and take appropriate maintenance action which may include climbing towers or poles, using a bucket truck, or a backhoe, following all safety standards.
- By utilizing your technical expertise and savvy to explain technical issues to customers providing solutions for their service needs
- By embracing the ability to work independently.

If a challenging technical position with customer contact excites you and you have experience with similar technologies, combined with a passion for learning, we need to talk!
